FOREWORD

DHL is present in over 220 countries and territories across the globe, making it the most international company in the world. With a workforce exceeding 285,000 employees, we provide solutions for an almost infinite number of logistics needs.

DHL is part of the world's leading postal and logistics Group, Deutsche Post DHL and encompasses four divisions: DHL Express, DHL Global Forwarding, DHL Supply Chain and Global Mail.

On a global basis DHL Supply Chain offer warehousing, distribution, managed transport and value-added services as well as business process outsourcing, supply chain management and consulting solutions for a balanced portfolio of Aerospace, Automotive, Chemical, Consumer, Energy, Fashion, Industrial & Engineering, Life Sciences & Healthcare, Retail and Technology. Our solutions are tailored to individual customer requirements.

DHL Supply Chain established its contract logistics business in Australia and New Zealand in 1998 and has enjoyed consistent growth over the past 14 years, generating total revenues in 2012 of over $500 million.

DHL Supply Chain (Australia) Pty Limited has more than 3,000 employees, over 560,000m² of warehousing, 51 facilities, extensive transport network, servicing more than 220 customers.

The recent addition of EnviroSolutions to the Australian arm of DHL Supply Chain has been a welcome one. This new area of the business has allowed DHL to work alongside all levels of government to implement legislation aimed at protecting and conserving our natural environment for the future. DHL's EnviroSolutions is a global product offering and aligns with DHL's own environmental agenda through our GoGreen program.

DHL's first year operating under the Australian Government's new product stewardship laws was an incredibly successful one and I look forward to DHL continuing to lead the way in the National Television and Computer Recycling Scheme.

DHL'S PRODUCT STEWARDSHIP ARRANGEMENT

The recycling target, determined by the imports of DHL's Liable Party members, includes televisions, computers and computer product/ printers and was achieved by DHL individually for each of these categories.

In November 2011, DHL applied to become a Co-Regulatory Arrangement under the Australian Government's Product Stewardship (Television and Computer) Regulations 2011. On 2 March 2012, DHL was the first organisation approved to deliver services for the collection and recycling of end-of-life television and computer products under the new National Television and Computer Recycling Scheme.

This was one of many market leading activities that DHL achieved in its first year as a Co-Regulatory Arrangement. Some of DHL's achievements include:

- First organisation to submit an application under the new Regulations;
- First company approved as a Co-Regulatory Arrangement;
- First Co-Regulatory Arrangement to sign a Liable Party member;
- First collection point established and operational;
- First Co-Regulatory Arrangement to achieve coverage in every state and territory; and
- First Co-Regulatory Arrangement to achieve 100% of its 2012-13 recycling targets.

The launch of the Scheme's first collection sites, operated by DHL, took place at the Mugga Lane and Mitchell waste transfer facilities in Canberra on 15 May 2012.

Figure 1: First pallet of end-oflife televisions collected under the Scheme, ready to be sent for recycling (Canberra, 15 May 2012).

After the Canberra collection sites were established, DHL continued to progressively roll-out a series of council related collection sites across Australia, each site referred to as a Drop Zone. DHL focused on working with local governments to support the establishment of convenient drop off locations for householders and small business.

In May 2013, DHL's launch of multiple collection points in Tasmania meant that there was now a nationwide collection network with a Drop Zone in every state. DHL was the first Co-Regulatory Arrangement to achieve national coverage.

The success of DHL's solution rolling-out across the country was quickly followed by the success of DHL achieving its 2012-13 recycling target of 18,150 tonnes, collecting 23,031 tonnes in total

MEMBERSHIP

During the 2012-13 year of the Scheme, DHL signed a total of 65 Liable Parties to its Co-Regulatory Arrangement. The final membership base resulted in DHL's target to collect and recycle 13,567 tonnes of televisions and 4,683 tonnes of computers, printers and computer products such as hard drives, keyboards and mice.

Through consultation with its Premium Liable Party Partners, DHL took the approach that information regarding the imports of each Liable Party is confidential information. This approach meant that sensitive information for one Liable Party was not shared with any other Party.

In the early stages of the 2012-13 year, DHL established a steering committee that provided Liable Parties a voice in the overall strategic direction of the Co-Regulatory Arrangement. The Product Stewardship Steering Committee undertook a variety of activities including but not limited to the following:

- Recommendations on the type and amount of advertising to occur within the 2012-13 year of the Scheme:
- Reviewed and provided comment of the key elements to DHL's roll-out strategy;
- Provided input into DHL's demand management strategy;
- Highlighted issues to be raised with the Government's Television and Computer Regulator;
- · Comprehensive review and submission to the Government regarding the proposed amendments to the Product Stewardship (Television and Computer) Regulations 2011; and
- Strategies around ensuring DHL's Co-Regulatory Arrangement attracted and retained credible Liable Party Members.

In the fourth guarter of 2012-13. DHL hosted a series of information sessions for its members and other interested Liable Parties to highlight DHL's successes in Year 1 of the Scheme. Guest speakers from the Department of Sustainability, Environment, Water, Population and Communities and the President of the Global Product Stewardship Council were invited and spoke at the events. DHL intends to make these annual events.

"The competitive market place for the National Television and Computer Recycling Scheme has resulted in lower costs for Liable Parties and a greater range of collection services available to the community. The costs that Liable Parties incurred in Year 1 were at least 30% lower than the original forecast and this is purely due to the price pressure to find more competitive ways of running operations." - Peter Bruce, Senior Director of EnviroSolutions, and DHL Co-Regulatory Arrangement Administrator.

DHL believe this treatment of confidential information is an important difference to its solution for Liable Parties considering which Co-Regulatory Arrangement to partner with.

COMMUNICATIONS

COLLECTIONS

DHL's collection strategy involved a combination of permanent sites, events, and retailers in metropolitan, inner regional, outer regional and remote areas across Australia. Appendix 1 provides a complete list of these services.

DHL's primary focus for collection services was permanent sites which were associated with council waste transfer stations. The rationale for this was based on householder and small business familiarity with disposing of waste at these sites. DHL surmised that it would be beneficial to tap into existing council communication channels to encourage the community to take televisions and computers to the same facilities. As at 30 June 2013 DHL managed 64 permanent collection sites.

In addition to permanent collection sites, collection events occurred throughout the year. These were utilised as part of the requirement to achieve reasonable access or where a permanent collection site could not be established. Throughout the year there were a total of 37 events.

A retail collection solution was developed through partnerships with Officeworks and Harvey Norman. The retail strategy benefited the retailers in that it attracted more people to their stores and assisted consumers by providing an extensive network of convenient drop-off points. As at 30 June there were 97 Officeworks stores and 152 Harvey Norman stores providing this service.

Officeworks provided a collection network for computers, printers and computer related products such as hard drives, keyboard and mice. DHL and Officeworks utilised a staggered roll out for implementation of this service, ensuring that individual states were brought on over the course of the year. By the end of June 2013 services were offered by Officeworks across all states and territories.

Harvey Norman rolled out a national trial of collection sites at selected electrical stores in January 2013, providing a solution for televisions. This trial proved a great success and additional sites were rolled out across all other states and territories in March 2013.

As at 30 June 2013, DHL had collection points in place to service 14.9 million Australians, or 95% of the population required to be serviced under the Regulations in accordance with the Reasonable Access outcome. Based on those metrics, DHL had established 57% of the sites required to be set up by 31 December 2013. DHL will achieve the reasonable access outcome in full by the Regulated date.

DHL have worked with multiple local councils over the course of Year 1 to ensure that any stockpiled e-waste at council facilities was sent to recyclers for processing. Appendix 2 provides a summary of the total weight of product collected by state and region.

To increase public awareness of DHL's Co-Regulatory Arrangement a customer facing website was established, namely DropZone.org.au. This website provides information about the Scheme, frequently asked questions and a list of collection sites so that householders and small business can find the collection site nearest to them. The website also provides viewers the ability to submit questions to DHL, via a Contact Us page. In 2012–13 a total of 84 queries were logged via the DropZone website and all were resolved.

In addition to the website, the community was made aware of DHL collection sites through an ongoing advertising campaign. In total DHL ran 3 newspaper campaigns during the year, with 123 advertisements run in various national, state and local newspapers.

As well as newspaper advertisements, DHL's Co-Regulatory Arrangement delivered 21 media releases to the waste industry as well as local, state and national media organisations from April 2012. DHL was also involved in a variety of additional joint advertising campaigns with councils.

For example DHL and Brisbane City Council partnered to develop a comprehensive 6 week advertising campaign aimed at increasing awareness of the Scheme.

The campaign made use of Council's existing communication channels with their residents; with information about the service featuring throughout their website, customer service centres, waste transfer stations, community newsletter and rates notices.

The campaign also featured print advertisements produced in multiple languages as well as radio and public payphone booth advertisements throughout the city.

With the digital switchover underway during the 2012-13 year many charity stores saw an influx of 'donated' e-waste. DHL worked with various charities throughout the year to help provide information for staff to be able direct consumers to their closest Drop Zone collection sites. Information was tailored to suit each region and charity store.

"For a gold mine to be classified as 'profitable' it needs to produce at least 10 grams of gold per tonne of dirt. Recycling 1 tonne of e-waste produces 400 grams of gold!" – Ian Wark Research Institute, University of South Australia.

DHL's Co-Regulatory Arrangement engaged a total of 15 recyclers during the 2012-13 reporting period. Table 1 overleaf provides the names of these recyclers.

Of the 15 recyclers engaged, 6 recyclers worked in close conjunction with social enterprise firms providing employment opportunities for people with disabilities and the long term unemployed. DHL's involvement with these recyclers and social enterprise firms under the Scheme has seen an increase in the number of green jobs available across multiple states, with approximately 230 new jobs created from May 2012 to June 2013. Of those 230 plus jobs, more than 160 were in the social enterprise workforce alone.

DHL's recyclers work with the following social enterprises:

- Qld: Endeavour Foundation (Townsville, Redcliffe and Southport), Max Employment services (Brisbane), Horizon Foundation (Brisbane), Anuha Services Australian Disability Enterprises (Lockyer Valley)
- NSW: Afford (Campbelltown), Kurrajong (Wagga Wagga), Joblink (Tamworth), Renewable Recyclers (Wollongong), Mai Wel (Maitland)
- TAS: City Mission (Launceston)
- VIC: Ozanam (Mornington), WDEA (Warrnambool), Axis Worx (Horsham), Aruluen, Connect Skills and Wise (Thomastown)
- SA: Aspitech (Underdale)

These recyclers recorded receipt of a total of 16,191 tonnes of televisions and 6,848 tonnes of computers and computer related product to their facilities during 2012-13. No product was stockpiled or stored outside of a recycling facility during the 2012-13 year.

To ensure compliance with all relevant Australian Standards, International Standards and industry Codes of Practice, DHL employed an auditor certified to Integrated Management Systems encompassing ISO 9001, ISO 14001 & OHSAS 18001. DHL's Recycling Manager conducted 15 audits during the 2012-13 reporting period and developed improvement plans in conjunction with recyclers to enable and encourage a continuous improvement environment.

Each of DHL's recyclers has a measurable landfill diversion rate. Whilst the industry is awaiting guidance on a consistent approach to measure landfill diversion, all of DHL's recyclers are on track to meet the 90% material recovery rate in 2014-15, as per the Regulations. On average, and by their own measure, DHL's recyclers are currently achieving a 96% recovery rate.

DHL have worked with recyclers to ensure that best practice methods for handling e-waste are implemented and exercised across the country, including the handling of leaded glass from Cathode Ray Tubes (CRTs) commonly found in older televisions or computer monitors.

DHL have been working in conjunction with ecyclelT, a division of the Australian Foundation for Disability. ecyclelT operate an e-waste processing facility south west of Sydney, providing sustainable employment opportunities for persons with disability and Sydney's first purpose built CRT glass processing plant. The site collects and processes redundant electronic products including televisions and computers from which CRT glass is machine processed and glass output is captured for downstream use in Australia. The site has capacity to divert upwards of 10,000 tonnes of leaded glass from landfill annually delivering a positive social and environmental outcome for the community.

Table 2 contains details of the types and weights of products recovered from the recycling process in each of the two product classes. This should be reviewed in conjunction with Graph 1 & 2 which highlights what percentages of the materials were recycled in each of the product classes.

EXPORTED WHOLE UNITS

Under DHL's Co-Regulatory Arrangement there were no whole units of televisions, computers or computer product exported overseas for recycling or re-use.

DHL's selected recyclers all have varying downstream processes which may see components exported overseas for further processing. These recyclers and their downstream processes have been audited in accordance with the Regulations.

E-waste is growing three times faster than any other type of waste in Australia.

Year 1 of the National Television and Computer Recycling Scheme saw DHL's arrangement achieve 100% of its e-waste target.

Under DHL, more than 23,031 tonnes of end-of-life televisions and computers were recycled.

That amount of e-waste would fill more than 949 B Double trucks.

That is a lot of e-waste diverted from landfill!

ENVIRONMENTAL AND OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH & SAFETY LAWS

DHL's Co-Regulatory Arrangement did not encounter any environmental or occupational health and safety incidents that required notification to any authorities under the relevant laws. Further to this DHL's Co-Regulatory Arrangement did not breach any environmental or occupational health and safety law during the 2012-13 reporting year.

PLANS FOR TOMORROW

"DHL's involvement in the Scheme has enabled us to build on our EnviroSolutions business, ensuring that we are the Co-Regulatory Arrangement of choice, especially for our existing technology and consumer goods customers. We have worked hard to provide a solution that is cost effective, whilst guaranteeing to our customers that the relevant environmental standards would be exceeded. DHL do not compromise on quality, and our success is evidence of this. We look forward to continuing to provide a solution that utilises our expert personnel, valued relationships with Liable Parties and collection partners, as well as continuing to operate an efficient and transparent Product Stewardship business model." – Peter Bruce, Senior Director of EnviroSolutions, and DHL Co-Regulatory Arrangement Administrator
